Subject: Clarification on B1 type training course provided by Aviatec EL.147.0013

Dear Mr. Deligiannis,

I am writing to you to clarify that at no time was the standard and or quality of the B1 type training provided by Aviatec ever brought into doubt.

After being made aware of irregularities from the Dutch Civil Aviation Authority in relation to 'on-the-job training' that was submitted to them for the issue of 'Aircraft Maintenance Licence', Ryanair started an internal investigation to ensure that no certifying engineers currently issuing 'Certificates of Release to Service' for the Ryanair fleet were part of this group.

To start this investigation an e-mail on the 25th.January 2023 was issued by me which had an error in it. It stated that the issue was with the B1 training Course performed by Aviatech EL.147.0013, when in fact it was the 'on-the-job' training that was delivered by another company.

When the error was brought to my attention, I immediately issued an e-mail on the 30th.January 2023 to correct the error and to clarify that there was no issue with the B1 type training provided by Aviatec EL.147.0013.

As part of the aircraft business, safety is the top priority for all, Ryanair is no exception to this. We take any issue that could affect the safety and airworthiness of our aircraft very seriously. When an issue is raised to us, we act to immediately to ensure safety is maintained.

Both Ryanair and I would like to clarify that there was no link between the issue raised by the Dutch Aviation Authority and Aviatech. Ryanair looks forward to working with graduates of Aviatech EL.147.0013 training school now and in the future.

Please feel free to show this letter to anyone who may raise the issue to clear and maintain the good name of Aviatech EL.147.0013.

Yours Sincerely

Christy Duffy.
